Attention: Deputy Director for Operations

Dear Sir:

Last November 5th, we requested the assistance of your agency to translate several technical reports written in the German language. The reports describe the process and results of a long term research project being conducted by the West German Government on computer recognition of handwriting.

We have since received the translation and I would like to thank the personnel of your agency for a very thorough and excellent job. No doubt, this was a tedious project for them, given the size and technical nature of the documents.

It is my understanding the following personnel were responsible for this fine work:

[redacted]

Chief, Foreign Broadcast Information Service

[redacted]

Chief, Joint Publication Resource Service

[redacted]

Contract Specialist (S&T)

As I indicated in my November letter, we believe this research project is of mutual interest and we would be pleased to share any future documentation we might obtain concerning the project.

Again, please convey my thanks to Messrs. [redacted]
for a job well done.
